Trans-Humanities is an academic journal envisioning a new horizon for the humanities. The journal is published by the Ewha Institute for the Humanities (EIH) which has pursued the Humanities Korea (HK) Project since 2007 with its agenda “Trans-Humanities: Reimagining and Reconstructing the Human Sciences.” Trans-Humanities aims to transcend the limits of the existing humanities studies as rigid disciplinary research and offer instead an arena for discussion to generate new humanities discourses that can respond to the age of trans-boundary culture by supporting researches with interdisciplinary, convergent, and practical implications. The main fields of study for Trans-Humanities are as follows: studies of the transformation and reformation of human, world, and knowledge identities in a trans-boundary cultural age; interdisciplinary studies encompassing the fields of the humanities and social sciences, culture and the arts, science and technology, and more; studies of new media and convergence technology; knowledge discourse analysis and knowledge theory; comparison and translation as methodology of Trans-Humanities; studies in East Asian humanities; studies of trans-boundaries culture and experience and more.

Note to Contributors:

Editors invite contributions which are written in English and have not been published or submitted to other journals. Submit the original manuscript through <http://www.trans-humanities.org>. Ewha Institute for the Humanities is in partnership with University of Hawai'i Press to publish and distribute the electronic version of Trans-Humanities for major hosting platforms (Project Muse, JSTOR, etc.).

Trans-Humanities is published three times a year; February 28, June 30, and October 31. The February and October issues are published in English whereas the June issue is published in Korean. The Journal accepts submissions from all over the world and all year round. However, submission must be no later than December 31th for the February issue, April 30th for the June issue, and August 31th for the October issue. Submitted papers will be peer reviewed for acceptance and revision.

Recommended length: 7,000-8,000 words in English.

All submission papers should include Abstract (250-300 words), Key Words (5-6 words), Works Cited, and brief biographical notes. MLA style for citation and documentation is required. Embedded notes in an essay must be listed in the Works Cited that appears at the end of the paper. Footnotes referring to the text should be used only when necessary for extra explanations.

All papers are to be blind-reviewed. Authors are requested to place their name, affiliation, and contact information on a separate page and avoid self-identifying citations in the article text for the initial submission.

$1,000 (or ₩1,000,000) will be provided for the published paper.

Prospective authors are encouraged to review more information about EIH and its research project on the Web:<http://eih.ewha.ac.kr>. Please feel free to send inquiries and submissions to Managing Editors:trans@ewha.ac.kr.

Guideline for Manuscript Writing

I. Formatting Requirements

1. The manuscript should include title, the body, a list of cited works, an abstract, and key words.
2. The recommended manuscript length is 7,000-8,000 words in English and 24,000 characters in Korean.
3. For a collaborative research manuscript, the name of the lead author should be followed by co-researchers.
4. The manuscript should follow current MLA style.
5. A list of Works Cited should be in English. In the case of the Asian text, the original title should be written within a parenthesis in its original language
6. A list of Works Cited should only contain quoted or cited documentation in the text.
7. An English abstract with the title and the author's name in English should be 250 words in a paragraph. Proofreading by a native English speaker is required.
8. 5-6 key words should properly represent the thesis of the manuscript in English.
9. A short vita is recommended to include the author's affiliation, research fields, representative publications, and the e-mail address in 7-8 lines.

II. A brief Guide to MLA Style for the Trans-Humanities

1. Reference Citation in Text

① It is advised to use in-text citation. Footnotes are acceptable when additional, in-depth explanation is required.

Here is an example for the in-text citation:

"Ancient writers attributed the invention of the monochord...(Marcuse 197)"

② If the author's name is mentioned in the paragraph, only the page number appears in the citation: "(197)."

③ If more than one work by the author is in the list of works cited, a shortened version of the title is given: "

(Anderson, Our Musik 7)."

④ If you quote two or more works, you use the semi colon(;) for the enumeration of the works cited: "(Marcuse 197; Anderson 7)."

2. The Works-Cited List

① The list of works cited appears at the end of the paper.

② Entries in a works-cited list are arranged in alphabetical order.
